

CURRENT PARAGRAPHS.

Southern News.

Pennsouls is shipping lumber to Chicago.

The bonded debt of New Orleans is $18,887,120.

Louisiana will pay the July interest on her consolidated bonds.

The Dallas Commercial is informed that Texas immigration is falling off.

The whipping-post is one of the issues in the Dallas county, Texas, elections.

The rewards offered for Sam Bass, the Texas train robber, dead or alive, amount to $1,000.

Edis Lawhorn, of McKinney, Texas, aged ten years, has been arrested for stealing and endeavoring to sell a horse.

The liquor dealers of New Orleans will fight the Moffett-register all the way to the Supreme Court.

Gov. Hampton, of South Carolina, boldly announces that he is in favor of paying every dollar of the state debt.

There are more than 9,600,000 acres of cotton lands in Texas, which, if cultivated, would yield a larger crop than that produced in the whole United States at the present time. Texas now raises one-fifth of the whole crop, and more than any other State in the Union.

The Supreme court of Louisiana, the other day opened with the same formality prescribed by the chief justice last year and then used for the first time. At the usual hour the sheriff and clerks attended the judges at their lodgings, and all walked thence in procession to the court-house. The lawyers rose as the judge entered, and each bowed to each other.

Belton (Texas) Journal: The court of appeals having affirmed the verdict and sentence of John Weather Hardin, he will go to the state penitentiary for twenty-five years. Judge White, who rendered the final decision, expressed a degree of surprise that he had not been sentenced to death in the district court. He said that justice had not been meted out to him; if it had he would have been hung. Hardin is yet a young man, and may possibly get a chance to make his escape and resume his career. His term of imprisonment will end in 1903, and he will then be fifty-seven years old.

A negro, who has just returned from Liberia, tells the Aberdeen (Miss.) Examiner his impression of the country. He says: "The sky is very unhealthy, especially for Americans. Fevers are very frequent and fatal. If you get sick, the native doctors give you brush tea, which kills eight out of every ten Americans. The country is full of insects, the most troublesome being a bug resembling a large ant, and travels very rapidly, called the racer. They go into houses at night after a rain and give a person no rest, their bite being both poisonous and painful."

Houston, Texas, special to the St Louis Globe-Democrat: Sam Bass is again back in his old haunts in Denton county. Three of his brother robbers, Underwood, Collins and Carter, are reported to have left their lead in disgust, principally, it is thought, because they were given the job to Jessie Peak, Captain of the Rangers, who arrived back in Dallas and says in the recent fight with the Bass gang, in Wise county, the robber Johnson was the only one that showed anything like courage. In the fight both sides were mounted, and when the firing was at its height one of Peak's men dismounted and laid down flat on his back on the ground, then raising his knees he made of them a rest for his rifle in the English style. Taking deliberate aim at the bandit Johnson, who was seated on his horse, the ranger fired and proved himself a crack shot, Johnson uttering a faint exclamation, and throwing up his hands, from which his gun fell, tumbled out of the saddle and measured his length in the shadows of the hill. The balance of the robbers escaped.

Miscellaneous.

The Vanderbilt party have gobbled up the Michigan Central Railroad.

The Will of the late William Cullen Bryant disposes of property valued at $350,000.

The Richmond Dispatch figures it out that the return from the Moffett register for the year, in Virginia, will reach $326,401.56.

An eagle in the Alps Mountains, a short time ago, carried away a ewe lamb to its nest. The lamb was not killed by the monarch of birds, and lived in apparent harmony with the young eaglets for four days, when it was rescued by the shepherd who owned it.

A commercial traveler, who has just returned from a trip through Ohio, states that the famous wild places have recently received an enormous postal card communication of a threatening nature signed "Communist" and commanding them to discontinue the use of rearing and mowing machines.

A letter is a clause in Mr. Bryant's will: "If either of my daughters should die without children, I direct that whatever she is to receive by this instrument shall go to her surviving sister. I direct, further, that the property given to my daughters shall be settled upon them in such a manner as to be removed from any intermeddling or control of the husband of either of them."

Advices from southwestern Kansas say that terrible rain storms prevailed in that region last week. At Winfield the rainfall on Wednesday afternoon was estimated at twenty-five inches. The whole country was inundated and great damage done to crops. Bridges and fences were carried away, and cattle, hogs and poultry drowned. The children of a farmer named Frue, living on Beaver creek, were drowned, and Mr. Bell, living on Badger creek, was also drowned.

The total cost of the Canadian Pacific railway is estimated at $100,000,000. The vast sum of $15,000,000 has already been expended in surveys and contracts, and all that is now to show for it, says the Railway Age, is some seventy miles of track from Thunder Bay on Lake Superior, westward into the wilderness, and a few miles of track from Winnipeg, in Manitoba, eastward. The cost of the Union and Central Pacific roads with equipments was about $250,000,000.

The three French commissioners,

Messrs. Andre, Ango and Hatt, who came to this country to observe the rains of Mercury, have been visiting

THE HICKMAN COURIER.

ESTABLISHED 1859.

HICKMAN, FULTON CO., KENTUCKY, FRIDAY JULY 12, 1878.

VOL. XIV. NO. 22.

LOST AND FOUND.
I lost the brook as it wound its way,
Like a thread of silver hue;
Then I turned away from view,
Through meadows green.

But I found again a nobler river,

Sparkling and broad and free,

With banks of green grass.

Till it reaches the boundaries sea.

I lost the tiny seed that I sowed

And many waited through sunshines and cold

For the young green sprouts to grow.

But I found again a nobler river,

The blossoms and fruit will come,

With banks of green grass.

For a joyful harvest-home.

I lost the life that grew by my own

And then I left to wonder alone,

And silently passed away.

But I found again a nobler river,

Though not to it lie here;

I found again a nobler river,

Though not to it lie here;

I shall be happy when its harmony fills

With banks of green grass.

I lost the note of the heavenly chime

The note came sounding by;

I lost the note of the earthy chime,

But I found again a nobler river,

The note came sounding by,

I shall be happy when its harmony fills

With banks of green grass.

I lost the life I led,

With banks of green grass,

I lost the love I gave,

With banks of green grass,

I lost the joy I gave,

With banks of green grass,

I lost the peace I gave,

With banks of green grass.

I lost the happiness I gave,

With banks of green grass,

I lost the health I gave,

With banks of green grass,

I lost the strength I gave,

With banks of green grass,

I lost the life I gave,

With banks of green grass.

I lost the note of the heavenly chime

The note came sounding by;

I lost the note of the earthy chime,

But I found again a nobler river,

The note came sounding by,

I shall be happy when its harmony fills

With banks of green grass.

I lost the life I led,

With banks of green grass,

I lost the love I gave,

With banks of green grass,

I lost the joy I gave,

With banks of green grass,

I lost the peace I gave,

With banks of green grass,

I lost the happiness I gave,

With banks of green grass,

I lost the health I gave,

With banks of green grass,

I lost the strength I gave,

With banks of green grass,

I lost the life I gave,

With banks of green grass.

I lost the note of the heavenly chime

The note came sounding by;

I lost the note of the earthy chime,

But I found again a nobler river,

The note came sounding by,

I shall be happy when its harmony fills

With banks of green grass.

I lost the life I led,

With banks of green grass,

I lost the love I gave,

With banks of green grass,

I lost the joy I gave,

With banks of green grass,

I lost the peace I gave,

With banks of green grass,

I lost the happiness I gave,

With banks of green grass,

I lost the health I gave,

With banks of green grass,

I lost the strength I gave,

With banks of green grass,

I lost the life I gave,

With banks of green grass.

I lost the note of the heavenly chime

The note came sounding by;

I lost the note of the earthy chime,

But I found again a nobler river,

The note came sounding by,

I shall be happy when its harmony fills

With banks of green grass.

CAPTURE OF A CRUISER.

How a New York steamer was Seized by Confederates—Captured—Death of One of Her Officers—a Charge of Murder.

peace, though for the world he would not have owned to anything of the kind. One day he was riding in the suburbs of London, and came upon a little child sitting by the wayside, sobbing bitterly. She had an apron full of primroses and violets, and a black-and-white kitten was cuddled up in her arms. Moved by some impulse which he could not have explained, Arkwright stopped his horse and accosted her. She sobbed out her little story with all a child's ingenuousness. Her mamma had gone somewhere to carry work, and she and Spot had gone along with themselves, and had walked, with great delight, for a joyful harvest-home.

Captain John C. Braine, ex-commander in the Confederate navy and captain of the Chesapeake by the United States gunboats Ella and Anna in the port of Lahave, where she was taking coal. He says that Parr is wealthy and can fight his own battles, but he does not know how he can be put on the charge of piracy or murder.

Captain Braine concludes his narrative by telling of the chase and capture of the Chesapeake by the United States gunboats Ella and Anna in the port of Lahave, where she was taking coal. He says that Parr is wealthy and can fight his own battles, but he does not know how he can be put on the charge of piracy or murder.

Captain John C. Braine, ex-commander in the Confederate navy and captain of the Chesapeake by the United States gunboats Ella and Anna in the port of Lahave, where she was taking coal. He says that Parr is wealthy and can fight his own battles, but he does not know how he can be put on the charge of piracy or murder.

Captain John C. Braine, ex-commander in the Confederate navy and captain of the Chesapeake by the United States gunboats Ella and Anna in the port of Lahave, where she was taking coal. He says that Parr is wealthy and can fight his own battles, but he does not know how he can be put on the charge of piracy or murder.

Captain John C. Braine, ex-commander in the Confederate navy and captain of the Chesapeake by the United States gunboats Ella and Anna in the port of Lahave, where she was taking coal. He says that Parr is wealthy and can fight his own battles, but he does not know how he can be put on the charge of piracy or murder.

Captain John C. Braine, ex-commander in the Confederate navy and captain of the Chesapeake by the United States gunboats Ella and Anna in the port of Lahave, where she was taking coal. He says that Parr is wealthy and can fight his own battles, but he does not know how he can be put on the charge of piracy or murder.

Captain John C. Braine, ex-commander in the Confederate navy and captain of the Chesapeake by the United States gunboats Ella and Anna in the port of Lahave, where she was taking coal. He says that Parr is wealthy and can fight his own battles, but he does not know how he can be put on the charge of piracy or murder.

Captain John C. Braine, ex-commander in the Confederate navy and captain of the Chesapeake by the United States gunboats Ella and Anna in the port of Lahave, where she was taking coal. He says that Parr is wealthy and can fight his own battles, but he does not know how he can be put on the charge of piracy or murder.

Captain John C. Braine, ex-commander in the Confederate navy and captain of the Chesapeake by the United States gunboats Ella and Anna in the port of Lahave, where she was taking coal. He says that Parr is wealthy and can fight his own battles, but he does not know how he can be put on the charge of piracy or murder.

Captain John C. Braine, ex-commander in the Confederate navy and captain of the Chesapeake by the United States gunboats Ella and Anna in the port of Lahave, where she was taking coal. He says that Parr is wealthy and can fight his own battles, but he does not know how he can be put on the charge of piracy or murder.

Captain John C. Braine, ex-commander in the Confederate navy and captain of the Chesapeake by the United States gunboats Ella and Anna in the port of Lahave, where she was taking coal. He says that Parr is wealthy and can fight his own battles, but he does not know how he can be put on the charge of piracy or murder.

Captain John C. Braine, ex-commander in the Confederate navy and captain of the Chesapeake by the United States gunboats Ella and Anna in the port of Lahave, where she was taking coal. He says that Parr is wealthy and can fight his own battles, but he does not know how he can be put on the charge of piracy or murder.

Captain John C. Braine, ex-commander in the Confederate navy and captain of the Chesapeake by the United States gunboats Ella and Anna in the port of Lahave, where she was taking coal. He says that Parr is wealthy and can fight his own battles, but he does not know how he can be put on the charge of piracy or murder.

Captain John C. Braine, ex-commander in the Confederate navy and captain of the Chesapeake by the United States gunboats Ella and Anna in the port of Lahave, where she was taking coal. He says that Parr is wealthy and can fight his own battles, but he does not know how he can be put on the charge of piracy or murder.

Captain John C. Braine, ex-commander in the Confederate navy and captain of the Chesapeake by the United States gunboats Ella and Anna in the port of Lahave, where she was taking coal. He says that Parr is wealthy and can fight his own battles, but he does not know how he can be put on the charge of piracy or murder.

Captain John C. Braine, ex-commander in the Confederate navy and captain of the Chesapeake by the United States gunboats Ella and Anna in the port of Lahave, where she was taking coal. He says that Parr is wealthy and can fight his own battles, but he does not know how he can be put on the charge of piracy or murder.

Captain John C. Braine, ex-commander

FARM AND HOME.

The following is a good method of dividing bees, and one that is both practical and easily performed by the experienced: After providing antra hive with empty frames; or better, frames filled with comb, proceed to open the hive to be divided, after subduing the bees with smoke or otherwise, lift out the brood combs with all adhering bees, until two-thirds of all the brood is removed placing the same in the new hive and being careful not to remove the queen. Fill all unoccupied space in both hives with comb frames. Locate the new hive some distance from the old. All the old bees will return to the parent hive, but enough young bees will remain to care for the brood. A fertile queen may be given the new colony after forty-eight hours, or about sunset on the second day, by quietly setting her on one of the brood combs. The bees, being all young, will accept her and the work is done. We introduced many queens to new colonies, last season, as here given, without the loss of a single queen. The new colony will not work much for a time, but is generally equal if not superior to the parent stock, in a few days.

The Hog Cholera.

One of the items in the general appropriation bill passed by Congress is $15,000 for investigating diseases of swine and for preventing contagious diseases to which all other domesticated animals are subject. The chief object is to find out what are the causes of and what is the remedy for hog cholera, the Texas cattle fever and the pleuro-pneumonia—these being the diseases whose ravages are a subject of the greatest concern to farmers. The murraim, known as pleuro-pneumonia, has been confined almost exclusively to the Atlantic States, while the hog cholera and the Texas fever prevail chiefly in the West. Very little has been done to discover the cause of the last-named diseases, although one of them, the hog cholera, is as it is generally and improperly called—causes an estimated loss of $2,000,000 a year to the farmers of Missouri and Illinois alone. The legislature of Missouri offered a reward of $10,000 for the discovery of a specific remedy for the hog cholera, but such a remedy has not been discovered, and probably never will be. The true policy is to ascertain the nature and causes of the disease and how to prevent it, and that is what the act of Congress proposes by careful examination and experiments made by scientific men. If they teach farmers how to protect their hogs by feeding and pasturing, the $15,000 will have been well expended.

Boys on the Farm.

S. Q. Lent writes as follows to the Detroit Free Press:

"Why do you take your son from school and put him on the farm at work this year? Why not let him finish his course of study first, then go to farming if he likes?" I asked of a well-to-do farmer to-day.

"I have two reasons," he replied, "first and least in importance, I want to develop his physical self alone with his mind—the former was getting a good way behind, and no matter what he will do he will want a good body. Secondly and primarily in importance, I wanted him to learn the worth of a dollar."

"But I will learn that soon enough when he has to earn the dollar, to support himself. Why not give him all the schooling he is to have, then let him use his wits to earn his living, he will know the worth of a dollar?"

"No, no," was the reply, "it is not safe to do that, the knowledge must come gradually, and the best way to get it is spend muscle for it. I want my boy to understand that working in this world earn their dollar slowly and at a severe cost. I want him to have such a fellow feeling for these workers that he will be very careful how he spends his hard-earned dollars. There are so many failures now in which poor hard working people are cheated out of their earnings all because the men who fail never knew the real cost of a dollar, that I am determined this year of experience that my boy will get, now that he is budding into manhood, shall be in his favor, and the money he earns by the sweat of his brow will convey an everlasting lesson to his mind. He will know what it is to earn money by a slow, honest process, and whatever he may do hereafter the lesson will go with him, and I am satisfied that there is no school in which he can acquire this knowledge so thoroughly as the school of life itself."

Useful Information.

FOR THE SICK CANARY BIRD.—Change of diet; bread moistened with cream, cured my bird.

WHITE CURRANT WINE.—Take white currants, squeeze out the juice, put as much water on the currants as there is juice; mix the two; add to each a gallon three and one-half pounds of sugar; let it work two or three months; then bottle.

JELLY CAKE.—One cup sugar, three eggs, three tablespoons of sweet cream, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoon of soda, one cup of tea.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and a half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoons of cream-tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of milk, and less than a cupful of sugar.

COFFEE [BREAD].—Set a sponge of mutton, butter and flour, a little salt with a little yeast to raise in it; let it rise, then work it a little, putting in currants or raisins and a little sugar. Let it rise again very light, then mold it into a loaf. Again let it rise, and bake. It must be kept warm from the start or it will not be good.

CORN BREAD.—Two heaping cups of corn meal, one cup of flour,

THE HICKMAN COURIER.

FRIDAY, : : : : JULY 12, 1873

THE HICKMAN COURIER. A weekly publication of news, editorials, and advertisements, in part, questions printed—but not responsible for sentiments or expressions of correspondents—except where we refuse to give name of author.

The colored people of Hickman announce a barbecue for July 13.

Mr. Sampson is no longer a candidate for Assessor.

Mr. Whipple withdraws from the race for Jailer.

The Directors of the Fulton County Fair will hold a regular meeting next Saturday.

The Supreme Court of Kentucky has decided that a man who gets drunk three times a year is a "drunkard."

Some of our Kentucky candidates are having election tickets printed at this office.

Clinton has a college, Fulton wants a college, and Union City is building a college.

The county candidates spoke at the Fulton barbecue Wednesday. None will howl.

The Stultz Dramatic Company, of Louisville, is to play at Hickman during our Fall Fair.

The house of Harrison Adkins, (Col.) was struck by lightning Friday last, several of the family stunned, but no one seriously injured.

There has been a series of plenums in the upper part of the county since at Mt. Pleasant, Lodging, and Alexander—for the accommodation of candidates. The series is continued in Hickman County next week.

We hear some people complain about being paid in silver. To all such we would say that we will receive it for subscription or any other debts due us. Call at the Courier office and get rid of it if it is a trouble to you.

DR. LA VICTORIA ORION.

The Wild Harbinger of the Millennium.

Dr. La Victoria Orion, who pretends to be a divinely commissioned agent to bring on the millennium, has been fighting in this section some days. The old man is at least earnest and enthusiastic in his work. He claims the title of the millennium will be reached about the year 1896, and in March of that year he will be inaugurated President of the United States. By that time peace on earth and good will to all mankind will prevail, and a regimen of beautiful women is to conduct him to the national capital, shouting, singing and dancing.

He hasn't a doubt of this result. He thinks whisky the great obstruction to the millennium, and as such he fights it, though he confesses to using a few drap at times, because it inspires him to do good to his fellow beings. He holds himself immortal—bound to live always—and can cure every manner of disease that flesh is heir to. He loves all the churches, elders and societies, but will join none of them, because of the vast advantage his great name would give over the others, and besides it would not accord with his divinely appointed work. The old man insists that he is not crazy—though so many people tell him that he is—because the world is crazy and he alone is sane, though he admits himself eccentric.

He has a letter of recommendation to Gen. G. Faxon, of the Paducah News, who is said to be a large capitalist, and is to back him in planting an orange and lemon grove in Florida, and if he does, he will make Len a Lieutenant in the millennium regiment of which he is to escort him into the Presidential office.

The MARSH—Who opened active and in demand—White and Red, No. 2, $2.00. White and Red, No. 3, 70 to 75¢. Rejected and damp, 50 to 65¢.

ARVELLS—in demand. Barrels, $1 25 to $1 50.

Wool.—Tub washed wool, 35 cts. each.

A CARD.

Mr. GEO. WARREN.—I understand a report is in circulation that I have withdrawn from the race for Jailer. Please say that there is no foundation for such report. I am still a candidate for Jailer and expect to be so until the evening of the 6th of August.

R. E. THOMASSEN.

To the Public.

I intend to teach my school as usual and expect to be assisted in the Primary Department by a competent female teacher.

I fully realize the supreme importance of properly building an educational foundation, so that it may afterwards be capable of supporting the grander superstructure—a higher education which will justify me in purchasing all necessary apparatus. P. G. HATZENBACH.

For the County's Good.

HICKMAN, Ky., July 11, 1873.—En. G. Faxon—What is now possible, how many candidates for Jailer are there, who will voluntarily leave the track, for the county's good. There is no desire to wedge politics in the county races, but there are many apprehensions that the present field renders the election of a colored Jailer possible. How many candidates are there? Is there any party? There is no organization to "get off the track," but there is a silent popular sentiment which says "you and your wife go off." WHITE LEAGUE.

FARMERS!

BRING in your Wheat—we have secured an agency and pay the highest cash market price.

june 14 J. H. PLAUT & BRO.

From all points on the frontier comes the intelligence that the Indians are on the warpath. Depredations of all kinds are reported from various points, and the resident on the western and southern frontier apprehend a troublesome time ahead.

Five Children at Once.

[Shepherdstown Register.]

The most remarkable birth ever known in this history of acquaintance occurred at near Shepherdstown, Ohio, on last Monday night. Mrs. McCormick gave birth to five healthy children, two boys and one girl.

The medical work have but few instances of such wonderful births, and when they do occur the children have scarcely been known to live. In this case the mother and children, in the common language on such occasions, are "doing well." The community there is excited and the fable is the hero of all the country around about, and his fame will spread on the wings of the newspapers from end of the country to the other. His house is already an object of pilgrimage for all the old women of the region.

Important Arrests.

[From the Paducah News.]

Our readers are no doubt familiar with the details of the Arlington robbery, which occurred in that little town some time in the month of February last, and by which transaction burglars secured some $30,000 by blowing up the safe of Mr. Wingo and others.

On a number of occasions different robbers have been among them, a different man named R. L. Williams, supposed to be the leader of the gang. They all had a preliminary examination and were held to bail. Williams secured bail, but his securities becoming alarmed gave him up. He gave bail a second time, and a third time he was given up and was brought to the jail in the city for safe keeping. At this exciting trial it was proved that his master was in with a large amount of money, but when the officers came to search for it they could not find it. Suspicion was aroused, however, and she was watched whenever she had occasion to spend any money. Some four weeks ago she passed a $5 bill which was mutilated at the bottom, as though done by rats. This bill was sent to a gentleman in this city and was placed in the hands of Marshal Gandy, who exhibited it at the banks, requesting if my like was offered to

The Case Against Mr. Tilden.

[From Courier Journal.]

It is sure that the devil having a proverbial plea for justice arrayed on his side does not receive his due often than his betters. Certainly the habit of crowing over the misfortunes of our friends comes next in order after that of insulting against our enemies. We might call their shortcomings magnified, but the spirit of the Devil is to spite man named R. L. Williams, supposed to be the leader of the gang. They all had a preliminary examination and were held to bail. Williams secured bail, but his securities becoming alarmed gave him up. He gave bail a second time, and a third time he was given up and was brought to the jail in the city for safe keeping. At this exciting trial it was proved that his master was in with a large amount of money, but when the officers came to search for it they could not find it. Suspicion was aroused, however, and she was watched whenever she had occasion to spend any money. Some four weeks ago she passed a $5 bill which was mutilated at the bottom, as though done by rats. This bill was sent to a gentleman in this city and was placed in the hands of Marshal Gandy, who exhibited it at the banks, requesting if my like was offered to Columbus is growing rich and liberal.

The delinquent tax-list compels the Sentinel to issue a supplement.

Some fools who visited Louisville on the Fourth to witness the great running race paid $50. for the rest of a carriage. Louisville abominates any thing like skinning.—[Paducah Herald.]

Sam Campion, a negro who went into the room where slept the daughter of L. F. Baird, of Carisbrooke, Living stone, was taken Tuesday by thirty-five citizens and hung to a tree.

In all the howling over hard times, it is well to remember that one dollar now, is, in nearly all cases, as much as two dollars used to be. The man who can get the one dollar has reason to be content.

The Murray Journal says that while

Mrs. Chadwick, of that country, was peeling potatoes on the bank of Clayton's creek, she looked around and saw six minks on one log. She threw the knife with which she was working at them, striking one of them on the head and killing it. She saved at least 40 chickens by that one cast of the case aside.

BOAT RACING.—A great feature at London on the Fourth was a boat race between English and Americian clergymen. The American people were in attendance to witness the

the Columbian crew of New York took the principal prize against the Hert fords of Oxford. The crew will meet with a grand reception on their return to New York.

HAYES does not seem to have had a very good time at Wyoming. As

according to New York Evening Reporter

the Pennsylvanians treated him with considerable rudeness.

He had not been speaking five minutes

when voices broke out in various quarters, and before he had finished his address he was surrounded by the crowd.

JOHN WITTING S.

Let Us Have Peace.

[The Conquering Hero:]

The Cincinnati Gazette is dead,

and a half upon the more impulsive

of its brethren, who are clamor

ing for Grant.

The red rag of Gran-um must be shaken prematurely in face of a people not yet prepared to accept it as an ensign. "In order to secure a quiet life we must be at war with the world."

WE took occasion to buzz Mr. Lem

ous. He is an old gentleman, probably more than sixty years, and has an air of sincerity about him which seems convincing. He says his daughter, Mrs. Williams, had this money long before the Alington robbery occurred.

It was taken in at different times at the house by her husband, and had been laid away because it was so raged; that in February, Mr. Williams paid

Tobe Hart $3000 for liors and robbery took place. El. Williams paid

John WITTING S.

A Splendid

White Shirt for $1—A White Vest, 90¢—at LUTTRELL'S.

NORTHERN JACKSON WHITE IRISH

Potatoes, at 60 cents a bushel, at

2c. W. METHENY'S.

Ladies'

Linen Suits—$3 and upward at

LUTTRELL'S Cheap Cash Store.

Just Opened.

An elegant line of Ladies', Misses' and

Children's Trimmed Hats, which I will sell very cheap.

R. O. LUTTRELL.

Selection of Prints.

The nice selection of Prints, Domestic Lamps, Pictures, Glass Clocks, etc. to any taste, at a low price, can always be found at LUTTRELL'S Cheap Cash Store.

ELGIN WATCHES

CLOTHING

Furnishing Goods,

Neck Wear, Hosiery, &c., &c.

A Magnificent line of Ladies', Misses', and Children's Trimmed Hats.

A FULL LINE OF CASSIMERES, LINEN

FANTGOODS, COTTONADES, &c.

ELGIN WATCHES

CLOTHING

Furnishing Goods,

Neck Wear, Hosiery, &c., &c.

All the above Goods are all offered at the very lowest prices ever offered in this country—all first class durable

Goods. [april 2]

AN ASTONISHING FACT.

A large proportion of the Americans are dying from the effects of

of dyspepsia and disorders of the stomach.

The cause of this is the mass of intelligent and valuable people who are not able to digest

their food.

It is a fact that the people of this country

are not able to digest

their food.

This medicine is for sale by Buck & Cowell, who also have some trial packages to be given away to applicants.

HICKMAN COURIER.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEEK BY

GEO. WARREN.

OFFICE:

Reinde Building—Clinton Street.

The Oldest Newspaper in Western Kentucky.

George Warren, Editor.

Price of Subscription, $2.

FRIDAY, JULY 12, 1878.

FOR APPELLATE JUDGE.

Thomas H. Hines,

of WARREN.

PATRIOTISM and perspiration, Trimble and Turner, or a deluge, that's the order of the day!

There is said to be a movement on foot to induce Judge Wm. Lindsey to run for Congress in this District.

Is the fact that a man happens to live in one of the five counties about the Tennessee and Cumberland, in this District, his political death warrant?

Mr. Sherman thinks he will fore-stall any action of the next Congress on the resumption bill by an-nouncing resumption before that body meets.

Our Best Recruiters openly de-nounce the Republican and Dem-o-cratic parties, and will canvass the State of Massachusetts in behalf of the greenback party. Thanks, that didn't come to us Democratic party.

The Republicans generally through-out the State are following the in-structions given them by Gen. Elihu Murray, and are calling conventions of their party to nominate candidates for all the offices.

THERE is over two hundred million dollars coin in the U. S. Treasury and it is daily increasing. Secretary Sherman is confident of resum-ing specie payment before the 1st of Jan-uary. Greenbacks are now, nearly at par. If he should, what would be come of the stock in trade of the average politicians.

There is an idea growing up in our country "that everything is fair in politics." This is a heresy, which will lead to mischief. It is the mere trick of a scoundrel to gain place or money. It is calculated to undermine and cor-rupt the public morals. Falsehood is never fair anywhere. If a politician gains success by a trick his victory is tarnished, his manhood degraded and his name dishonored.

A large proportion of Mexican dol-lars now in circulation are counterfeited and as they are very well executed, it is almost impossible to tell when you have a good one. It is said that there is an extensive manufac-turer of these coins in New York, and the business of counterfeiting is carried on without fear of the law, which only ap-plies to the counterfeiting of the coin.

A Convention Ordered.

The Democratic Committee for this Congressional District, met in Paducah, Tuesday last, and ordered the assembling of a convention at Paducah, on the 4th of September, for the purpose of nominating a democratic candidate for Congress.

We conscientiously believe that the Committee in this action has made a mistake. We conscientiously believe that a large majority of the Democrat-ic party desired a primary election at the regular August election, and hence a more general satisfaction would have been given. Believing this the COURIER advocated a primary election, and we hereby warn our friends of any damaging results. The Committee is composed of honorable gentlemen and good democrats, and with them is the responsibility. The success of the convention nominee depends upon the men nominated.

A convention can be just as fair as a primary election, if the people will attend, but judging by the past they won't. Let any citizen, not a politi-cian, note the number of Democratic voters who will attend the regular Aus-tumn election, and compare with the number who usually attend county or precinct conventions. This compari-son determined the COURIER in favor of a primary election, and not because he had a personal favorite in the field. We shall see what we shall see.

The Communist Star.

[Danville Advocate.]

Sensational politicians have wilfully estimated that there were 100,000 or organized Communists in New York City and vicinity. The various sec-tions in that city, of which there are now eight, number as enrolled paying members a little less than 100,000. There are probably not more than 500, and the most active members do not claim that the number exceeds 600. Of the total in the two cities, nearly 1,000 are Germans, and of these three fourths at least enforce perspiration by the arduous labor of dispensing beer. There are not more than 100 Americans en-rolled in the two cities, and these may not agree with the more radi-cal sentiments of the Germans. There are only a few dozen Irishmen. The rest are Frenchmen, mainly refugees of the Paris Commune.

Another Trouble.

An unusual scene prevails in Mon-treat over a prospective collision be-tween the Orangemen and the Catho-lics—the former being determined to celebrate the Battle of the Boyne, and the latter to open fire to prevent them. The Mondre authorities are at loggerheads as to the proper official whose duty it is to call on the troops, and a contention has arisen over the point whether an officer has the right to order his men to fire before the riot act is read or not. While this bickering is going on, the bellringers are preparing for battle on the 12th inst., and, unless the Mon-dre authorities take some steps to pre-vent them, will be bloodshed and broken heads.

The military will have to proceed with the mob as the Orangemen the other day. Prompt action made Quebec an-other as a asylum for dead mutes.

HOW NEAR THE PRECIPICE.

Trimble and Turner Political Incendiaries.

Or, Self-Sacrificing Patriots!

It can not be denied that the finan-cial teachings now being inculcated by Col. Turner and Judge Trimble, can-didates for Congress, in this District, are taking great and widespread hold upon the people. The oppressive times, the utter stagnation of trade, the ruinous depreciation in the value of lands, horses, stock, produce, and every thing else, forces the people into that frame of mind, to listen to any suggestions and to eagerly grab at any possible remedy that promises relief.

The condition of affairs is deplorable, business rain staves every mer-cant in the face, and the honest earth no longer yields to the strong arm of husbandry a legitimate profit. The people want and deserve a remedy for these oppressive and burden-some ills. In the midst of this con-dition of affairs, Col. Turner and Judge Trimble, place the "rag baby" before the people as the political Mes-siah that is to work deliverance to the body.

The position of Turner and the po-sition of Trimble are identical and the same, albeit they may dress the "babey" in different colors of oratory.

Trimble and Turner Personalities.

The personal issues between Turner and Trimble, candidates for Congress, open, rich and racy, and it is claimed that each have a pocket full of wealth. The statements give the so-called rail-road King, and his hounds, the ex-citement which Trimble has created in the city of Louisville, now seeking to represent this District in the next Congress of the United States. The charges in vogue against Trimble are:

1st. That he borrowed money and paid point in this wholesale work.

Leaving aside the morality or legal-ity of their programme, there can be no question, but that it would give in stant relief to the people. There can be no question but that the white of industry would strike life and limb into every department of trade, that the thou-sands of now idle and unemployed mechanics and working people would at once find active and profitable work; and that new manufactures, and new railroads, and every kind of material and necessary improvements would spring forward with a bound. The millions and millions of dollars now sleeping in United States bonds would be compelled to find employment in home industries and home improve-ments and developments. This is true.

All the money now invested in United States bonds, profiting no one but the owner, being converted into money, would be bound to find employ-ment that would pay some interest. Hence the country would be doused with money, and we doubt not that great revival of trade and prosperity would result as pictured by these greenbacks, at least temporarily. This is one side—and the other side of the picture.

The other side of this question is: The honor of the United States is pledged to pay these bonds and the interest now due. Citizens, and foreign-ers, holding upon this large investment, must return to his native land.

That is that a Senator he per-mits to pass the bill which burdons the people with taxes.

1st. That he's a demagogue.

2nd. That he's a demagogue and dis-tinguisher.

3rd. That he is a demagogue, dis-tinguisher and trickster.

4th. That he is not a voter or citizen of the United States.

5th. That he is a six years member of the House of Representatives.

6th. That he is a shoddy bondholder.

7th. That he is a shoddy bondholder and has himself incorporated into some kind of a giant monopoly, railroad and telegraph company and oil and coal company, but with the old world spirit.

8th. That as the author of the bill, he will return to his native land.

To these charges, we presume, Col. Turner pleads innocence.

1st. That he's a demagogue.

2nd. That he's a demagogue and dis-tinguisher.

3rd. That he is a demagogue, dis-tinguisher and trickster.

4th. That he is not a voter or citizen of the United States.

5th. That he is a six years member of the House of Representatives.

6th. That he is a shoddy bondholder.

7th. That he is a shoddy bondholder and has himself incorporated into some kind of a giant monopoly, railroad and telegraph company and oil and coal company, but with the old world spirit.

8th. That as the author of the bill, he will return to his native land.

To these charges, we presume, Col. Turner pleads innocence.

1st. That he's a demagogue.

2nd. That he's a demagogue and dis-tinguisher.

3rd. That he is a demagogue, dis-tinguisher and trickster.

4th. That he is not a voter or citizen of the United States.

5th. That he is a six years member of the House of Representatives.

6th. That he is a shoddy bondholder.

7th. That he is a shoddy bondholder and has himself incorporated into some kind of a giant monopoly, railroad and telegraph company and oil and coal company, but with the old world spirit.

8th. That as the author of the bill, he will return to his native land.

To these charges, we presume, Col. Turner pleads innocence.

1st. That he's a demagogue.

2nd. That he's a demagogue and dis-tinguisher.

3rd. That he is a demagogue, dis-tinguisher and trickster.

4th. That he is not a voter or citizen of the United States.

5th. That he is a six years member of the House of Representatives.

6th. That he is a shoddy bondholder.

7th. That he is a shoddy bondholder and has himself incorporated into some kind of a giant monopoly, railroad and telegraph company and oil and coal company, but with the old world spirit.

8th. That as the author of the bill, he will return to his native land.

To these charges, we presume, Col. Turner pleads innocence.

1st. That he's a demagogue.

2nd. That he's a demagogue and dis-tinguisher.

3rd. That he is a demagogue, dis-tinguisher and trickster.

4th. That he is not a voter or citizen of the United States.

5th. That he is a six years member of the House of Representatives.

6th. That he is a shoddy bondholder.

7th. That he is a shoddy bondholder and has himself incorporated into some kind of a giant monopoly, railroad and telegraph company and oil and coal company, but with the old world spirit.

8th. That as the author of the bill, he will return to his native land.

To these charges, we presume, Col. Turner pleads innocence.

1st. That he's a demagogue.

2nd. That he's a demagogue and dis-tinguisher.

3rd. That he is a demagogue, dis-tinguisher and trickster.

4th. That he is not a voter or citizen of the United States.

5th. That he is a six years member of the House of Representatives.

6th. That he is a shoddy bondholder.

7th. That he is a shoddy bondholder and has himself incorporated into some kind of a giant monopoly, railroad and telegraph company and oil and coal company, but with the old world spirit.

8th. That as the author of the bill, he will return to his native land.

To these charges, we presume, Col. Turner pleads innocence.

1st. That he's a demagogue.

2nd. That he's a demagogue and dis-tinguisher.

3rd. That he is a demagogue, dis-tinguisher and trickster.

4th. That he is not a voter or citizen of the United States.

5th. That he is a six years member of the House of Representatives.

6th. That he is a shoddy bondholder.

7th. That he is a shoddy bondholder and has himself incorporated into some kind of a giant monopoly, railroad and telegraph company and oil and coal company, but with the old world spirit.

8th. That as the author of the bill, he will return to his native land.

To these charges, we presume, Col. Turner pleads innocence.

1st. That he's a demagogue.

2nd. That he's a demagogue and dis-tinguisher.

3rd. That he is a demagogue, dis-tinguisher and trickster.

4th. That he is not a voter or citizen of the United States.

5th. That he is a six years member of the House of Representatives.

6th. That he is a shoddy bondholder.

7th. That he is a shoddy bondholder and has himself incorporated into some kind of a giant monopoly, railroad and telegraph company and oil and coal company, but with the old world spirit.

8th. That as the author of the bill, he will return to his native land.

To these charges, we presume, Col. Turner pleads innocence.

1st. That he's a demagogue.

2nd. That he's a demagogue and dis-tinguisher.

3rd. That he is a demagogue, dis-tinguisher and trickster.

4th. That he is not a voter or citizen of the United States.

5th. That he is a six years member of the House of Representatives.

6th. That he is a shoddy bondholder.

7th. That he is a shoddy bondholder and has himself incorporated into some kind of a giant monopoly, railroad and telegraph company and oil and coal company, but with the old world spirit.

8th. That as the author of the bill, he will return to his native land.

To these charges, we presume, Col. Turner pleads innocence.

1st. That he's a demagogue.

2nd. That he's a demagogue and dis-tinguisher.

3rd. That he is a demagogue, dis-tinguisher and trickster.

4th. That he is not a voter or citizen of the United States.

5th. That he is a six years member of the House of Representatives.

6th. That he is a shoddy bondholder.

7th. That he is a shoddy bondholder and has himself incorporated into some kind of a giant monopoly, railroad and telegraph company and oil and coal company, but with the old world spirit.

8th. That as the author of the bill, he will return to his native land.